

Artful Insights

Swap the whiteboard for watercolours

A corporate workshop experience using the Art of Intuition™ Framework. Here the walls come down, and what participants create becomes the starting point for guided conversations that uncover natural thinking styles, leadership strengths and communication preferences. Creativity bypasses our habitual way of thinking. When people stop searching for the "right" answer, they often recognise strengths, challenges and opportunities that had been sitting just below the surface. This creative activity simply becomes a catalyst for those conversations.

"I wasn't expecting to get anything meaningful out of it, then I sat there looking at what I'd created and it described exactly where I am right now. Genuinely one of the best sessions we've done." — Melly S
